Joanna Gaines has us ready for burnt orange leaves, cool temps, and pumpkin spice flavors mixed into everything — even in August.

In a recent Instagram post, the Fixer Upper star shared the new installation of her fall decor collection in Magnolia Market at the Silos. Gaines wore a summery white tank top paired with light-wash jeans, but added a cozy touch with a functional layer that's primed for autumn: a plaid flannel.

We're taking a note from Gaines' clever summer-to-fall outfit formula — that's why we rounded up similar plaid flannels from Amazon's fashion department.

We're not sure of the exact top Gaines wore, but this button-up flannel is a close match. The warm orange color evokes a vintage farmstead feel that looks similar to the HGTV icon's style. One five-star reviewer raved that it's "nice and thin for transitioning into fall," and that it fits with "room to spare for tanks underneath." Right now, you can tie it around your waist just as Gaines did or wear it as a top to combat chilly AC temperatures.

If you're looking for something more vibrant but still on-theme with fall, consider snapping up this plaid button-up. It's ideal for backyard bonfires, late-summer walks, and laid-back outdoor lunches. The cotton material gives it a soft and breathable feel — plus it holds up well after washing, according to multiple reviewers who note that it doesn't fade or shrink. It also has a hem that falls below the bum, so if you decide to wear it off your waist, it offers full coverage.

Hundreds of Amazon shoppers have given this flannel a five-star rating. Unlike the style above, this shirt leans into deeper fall colors and it's available in 21 colors. It incorporates touches of navy blue just like Gaines' top — and "the color in person is way better than the photo," one shopper noted. Copy Gaines by styling it with a white scoop-neck tank top and jeans or hop on the stylish pants trend worn by celebs like Meryl Streep and Katie Holmes by wearing it with wide-leg pants and a white button-up shirt.

We rounded up even more plaid shirts that you can snag for under $25 in Amazon's fashion hub, all inspired by Joanna Gaines.
