

BEAR MOUNTAIN!

Read the story aloud, changing the pictures for words.

Bob

bear

Scoop

and the team receive an urgent phone call from Jenny the

Zookeeper, asking them to come and help finish the  enclosure.

“Don’t worry, we’ll build a nice home for the ,” says .

The team get to work and build a mountain out of rocks and wood that the can climb on, with lots of room to play. “We should plant some trees to make it feel like a forest,” Wendy says to . They leave in charge while they go to get trees.  decides to pile more rocks on top of the mountain to make it higher. “It’s a  mountain, it’s supposed to be high!” shouts .  adds more and more rocks

and wood until suddenly, the foundations start to shake and the rocks all fall down.  and Wendy arrive with the trees and see the mess.

“I’m sorry. I wanted the  to have more space to play,” says .

“That’s a great idea!” says . “If we use concrete instead of soil for the base, it will be stronger so we can make a bigger mountain,” says Wendy.

Two-Tonne mixes some cement and the team build up the concrete base until the mountain is finished.

The  appears

and starts to play in his new home.

“Good work, team!”

 exclaims

THE END!

