

LETTER GRADING VENDING MACHINES

6 vending machines graded A - F
based solely on my own personal opinions

BY "HAPPY FELLOW DESIGN"

I say "regular" vending machine because this one to me is the standard for all other vending machines. Very inoffensive, does its job well, and while I see videos online of people's snacks getting stuck, I've never had that happen to me. Doesn't get an A rating due to these inevitably being way over-priced.

Regular Vending Machine

C+

LETTER GRADING VENDING MACHINES

6 vending machines graded A - F based solely on my own personal opinions

BY "HAPPY FELLOW DESIGN"

Sticker machines are the absolute bomb if they have good selection. My favorite are the parody logo stickers that have food and drink logos that say something funny instead of the brand name. But while a dollar isn't bad for a sticker, the quality of these are not usually worth the price for me personally, so it gets knocked down to a B+.

Sticker Machine

B+

Thank you for reading all my correct opinions in this zine.

If you liked this underwhelming creation, follow me on Instagram @happyfellowdesign, where I post various graphic design pieces.

I was always disappointed by these as a kid, because I would walk by expecting snacks and it was boring socks. I didn't even use vending machines much back then, I think I just liked looking at the snacks my parents wouldn't let me waste money on. Also, it's 100% your fault if you forget to wear socks while bowling you weirdo.

Bowling Alley Sock Machine

D-

No contest, this is the best vending machine ever made. This thing only accepts quarters, and never more than 4, which means nothing can be overpriced. It never fails to deliver its product. It's also really cool looking since it's non-electronic except for the refrigeration. I've never had an issue with these. I love them with my whole heart.

Fully Mechanical Vending Machine

A

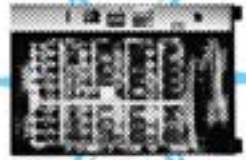

I remember seeing this for the first time in an airport and thinking it was cool. I now think this thing is totally absurd. I understand the cheaper headphones, but some of these sell actual tablets. If you need to distract your kid so badly that you impulsive buy an iPad, you need to seek help. Honestly just put your kid up for adoption at that point.

Best Buy Express

D+

This stupid thing is where I get truly frustrated. I swear it's out of order half the time, and when it is actually working, you only get the drink you ordered about half the time. And idiots always try to block the door from opening to get an extra drink or something and it breaks the machine every time. There are way better machines for drinks.

Drink Machine with mechanical arm

F-

LETTER G VENDING

6 vending ma
based soley on m

BY

LETTER GR
VENDING MA

6 vending machine
based soley on my ow

BY

LETTER GRADING VENDING MACHINES

6 vending machines graded A - F
based soley on my own personal opinions

BY "HAPPY FELLOW DESIGN"

Regular Vending Machine

C+

I say "regular" vending machine because this one to me is the standard for all other vending machines. Very inoffensive, does its job well, and while I see videos online of people's snacks getting stuck, I've never had that happen to me. Doesn't get an A rating due to these inevitably being way over-priced.

Sticker Machine

B+

Sticker machines are the absolute bomb if they have good selection. My favorite are the parody logo stickers that have food and drink logos that say something funny instead of the brand name. But while a dollar isn't bad for a sticker, the quality of these are not usually worth the price for me personally, so it gets knocked down to a B+.

FELLOW DESIGN"