

Margaret Seymour Week 2

- CAUTION: Taking UX Certification courses full-time leads leads to seeing Post-Its EVERYWHERE!
- FUNCTION: Moderately-high functionality for the purpose intended, as privacy screens between tables in outdoor dining.
- SUCCESS: Some visual & audio privacy. Does not feel claustrophobic.
- FAIL: Visually somewhat 'ragged'. 'Unfinished' in a not entirely aesthetically pleasing way.
- NEEDS: Softening with organic materials. Plants—living wall—green tones painted

- CONTEXT: Thinking of UX Homework on dog walk. Lo & behold! Once the site of Intense Ideations!?!?
- SUCCESS: Cedar shake is perfect for the Marina District vernacular. Softens compared to next door.
- FAIL: Can be hard to maintain in cloudy, damp environments.
- I vote success!

- CONTEXT: Had many many many pics of my work to use. Ended w/ a cut-paste.
- SUCCESS: Most visually appealing to me. Similarity of color makes it easier to see the similarity of all.
- FAIL: Would get monotonous quickly. Add color contrast!
