For some, Thanksgiving brings to mind images of a cornucopia of foods on an endless dining room table. For many, this is not the reality. But Thanksgiving is not about what is on the table, but rather who is around it. This Thursday, we hope you are able to gather with your loved ones whether they be friends, family, neighbors and of course pets. Share your gratitude for each other, the bond you have, and the ability to come and be together.

If you are fortunate to have an abundance around the table in your life and have shared your bounty, there is someone out there grateful for you: the people and pets in our community able to celebrate their own Thanksgiving, still safely together because you were there to support them when they needed it most: Susan and Lola, Quinn and Cinthya, Oscar and Cesar, Maria and Joey, Blacky and Jesus, Khali and Adam and so many more who who didn't have to choose between staying housed or staying with their beloved companions, all because you were there for them.

Our gratitude extends far beyond our own Thanksgiving table to all of you. We are so grateful for each and every one of you: our supporters, partners, grantors and volunteers that provide every opportunity for the financially struggling people with pets in the Los Angeles community to be served. We thank you for all you do proving we are betterTogether Forever.

May you and your loved ones have a happy and healthy holiday!
