

RH
RUDE HOUSE

HOMES THAT DON'T SUCK

ABOUT US

The natural smart home. The fascia between nature and humans. Rude House is a sustainable housing and community creator, with a focus on affordable, self-sufficient, biophilic, smaller footprint living.

For the people who want more than a beige box to die in.

THE HOUSING MARKET, BLESS ITS ANTIQUATED SOUL, IS RATHER A BORE.

Traditional housing offers little beyond the predictable sprawl of 3-5 bedroom behemoths you can't afford, or the cramped indignity of apartments and townhouses you can. Congratulations, you're free to choose your cage.

Many today yearn for a deeper bond—with nature, with sustenance, with the quiet triumph of reliance on oneself. We deliver precisely that: homes that are built with precision, foster connection, and hold a certain irreverence for convention.*

“The housing industry thrusts upon the young a dismal ultimatum: indenture yourself to a soulless mortgage for a box unfit for human dignity, or languish in rentals at the mercy of landlords who regard tenants as serfs. It's a tyranny of tedium masquerading as choice.” – Christopher Hitchens (Probably)

*Middle finger door knockers come standard.