Interco Certifications: ISO 9001 Quality Management Systems

Interco has achieved the ISO 9001 Quality Management Systems certification. This standard specifies requirements for a company's quality management.

As an ISO 9001 certified company, Interco maintains an internationally accepted uniform quality system. This system is universally accepted as best practice. Moreover, the ISO 9001 practices help Interco provide the highest levels of customer service. It also ensures the products Interco handles and provides its material in the best manner possible.

Interco Certifications: ISO 14001 Environmental Management System

In addition to maintaining the ISO 9001 Quality Management Systems standards, Interco achieved ISO 14001. This certification maintains the standards of care reflected in the ISO 14001 Environmental Management System certification. The implementation of the ISO 14001 standards helps Interco manage the highest standards and guidelines of environmental regulation and process. By maintaining the highest standards of environmental awareness and care, Interco is able to reduce its environmental impact.

As a recycling company, it is important that Interco constantly seek to improve in this manner. Accordingly, this standard of certification helps Interco demonstrate the highest levels of environmental quality and conformity. Interco does this through strict adherence to environmental performance and continuous improvement.

Interco Certifications: ISO 45001 Occupational Health and Safety Assessment Series Management System

Moreover, in maintaining the highest standards of health and safety, Interco has adopted and maintained the ISO 45001 standards. The ISO 45001 Occupational Health and Safety Assessment Series Management System standards of certification are very important. They help Interco identify and control potential health tangential supply chain within which Interco is a critical cog.

In addition, its implementation helps Interco reduce the potential for accidents and danger while improving the overall health, safety, and performance levels across the company. The ISO 45001 standard is internationally accepted as the highest standard of health and safety management in existence.
