

Sample 1 - Adolescent Dilemma

Miquel, He may be just another ordinary young man, but favelas like the one he lives in are beset by a strong presence of organized crime. Living in latin america is a constant double standard, one is born in misery or at the top, the middle class is just a simple concept that here is just a dream of times past.

A young man like Miquel, can leave this place being healthy and educated, but not everyone has the will or is prepared in advance for these things. The violent gang attitude and the strong actions of the police are things that can take the lives of many. Stray bullets are not uncommon.

But when you live there you know, that if you speak up the bullet will not be accidental, Being a good man can be exchanged for your blood, One false step is what it takes to take a person's life just to follow the good. Prayer may become the only chance for these people... to just get out of this life and live in a calmer place.

The other side of the dark coin of the favela. Drugs are one of the forms of false escapism that is given to everyone, these plants, pills or whatever... they don't discriminate, they can take your life, the life of a family member... or your best friend's life.

Miquel had to witness how his friend succumbed under an overdose, Life is never easy... but here things turn upside down fast, and not everything is pretty, there can be humility... but it is more the danger that exists.

Miquel, witnessing all this cruelty. the dark side of what human beings do for a few coins. just wanted to escape, but there are things that are well represented on the screen.. only this is not a movie. it never will be, maybe a twisted god will see it as one. but the youth suffer for every friend, family member or partner.. that they lose to organized crime, there may be police predominance.. but still the death count will go up by a chance.. or simply for not presenting your documents.

If you are like Miquel. You have to put all your chips on moving out of there... leave everything behind... just to achieve the desired peace of mind that one wants when living that life...

The sweet dream of being able to visit your loved ones without being killed for a piece of metal, the peace of mind...that one will have for the development of their future children...or even...the peace of mind that one will have for the development of their future children.... To be able to retire and live as old people with your partner, without the fear of everything that involves the claws of all this macabre trick of destiny.

If you are Miquel. Although all of us at some point in our path in so many lives, we will be. Remember, you are not the only one out there. form your alliance and escape what can lead to only a life of suffering and pain. not only for you...

But for your loved ones.

The shadow of youth is not only what they choose, but what they live.

Experiences and work will not solve everything for a person, rebellious minds do not involve an act of rebellion in itself, but reflect in part the work that one gives as a father figure, or the teachings that you leave with each of your lessons. Every word, every sentence leaves something deep in the mind of a young or early age person, because they are not rebellious just for disagreeing with you.

They are rebels, because you taught them what freedom is, because the freedom you give them is a suffocating and illusory one. why do you treat a teenager as your 5 year old child when you have to learn that you have to see his side, not only yours. you were once a teenager... ask yourself what you think...

There are things that if you don't change early on... they can backfire later on. The heart is important in parenting. but that doesn't mean being too accessible. you just have to find the balance, plan and above all... give them to understand that a mistake like a piercing or a tattoo without authorization is better to face it... even if it is not drastic and it is just a broken vase. you have to show them that mistakes are common and that they have to learn from them, that they don't have to let themselves be influenced.

But the main thing is.

All young people deserve a father, not all fathers deserve a son.

Think before you act, reconcile your mind and talk to your partner... don't bring unreasonable children into the world.
