Pursuing her career in the Philippines was never a wrong decision for La Vita, as the Filipino crowd loves her. She had a chance to play at the biggest clubs in Manila, Subic, Bohol, Davao, and Urdaneta. She also shared the stage with artists and community DJs from Sora Music Group, a record label and artist collective focusing on the local and international markets, like Ian Sndrz, Small ToK (Israel-based), and Kar Concepcion.

Of her love of DJing, she mostly plays house music, EDM, and hip-hop and debuts as a music producer with her first single, "Love Again," out now on major streaming platforms.
