

Don't let our name
fool
you.

We're called Oak Ridge Associated Universities. We have a campus. We even have classrooms. But we're not a university.

We're the strength of 88 universities, and we do many things: We make sure that sites and facilities are safe for the people who live and work around them. We provide information that helps cancer patients receive safe and effective treatment. We respond to radiation emergencies worldwide. And while we are not a university, we do educate. We develop courses on emergency management, workplace violence, and national security issues. We implement training programs using innovative technologies such as distance learning and computer-based training. And we handle more than 100 research and education programs across the country.

We may not be a university, but you can learn a lot from Oak Ridge Associated Universities. We find solutions.
