Price: £160.00

This Lumie BodyClock is the ultimate gift to help new mums get the sleep they need. With a fading sunset that will help you fall asleep gradually and naturally, this will signal your body to release more of the sleep hormone melatonin so that you can drift off to sleep comfortably. Then come morning time, the sunrise feature prepares your body for waking up. Keeping sleep on track is crucial for a mums energy, mood, stress levels and productivity. Getting the sleep they need means healthier more productive and happier daytimes. The features also have a range of options that you can use together- including varying intensities and durations, as well as 7 day programming.

Eternity Trio necklace:
