The Teal Pumpkin Project

The Teal Pumpkin Project is a national campaign launched by Food Allergy Research & Education, Inc. (FARE) in 2014 to raise awareness of food allergies among young trick-or-treaters during Halloween.

As part of the movement, FARE hopes you'll provide non-food treats as an alternative for kids with food allergies in addition to your usual candy handouts.

Thousands of supporters use the teal pumpkin—a symbol of the project using the color of food allergy awareness—on door steps alongside traditional Halloween pumpkins to indicate non-food treats are available for trick-or-treaters.

We support the Teal Pumpkin Project and can help you participate this season as well. In addition to teal pumpkin paint kits, we have the following non-food items in our seasonal departments:

- Glow sticks
- Glow bracelets and necklaces
- Temporary tattoos
- Stickers
- Pencils
- Small toys
- Gift bags
