

10 Gadgets Every Man should own

From something as basic as a cardholder to a universal remote or smartwatch, it is not surprising that men love to have gadgets. Gadgets are important in the sense that they make our day better; they are electronic tools that are in existence to ease the human workload. Whether you are a staunch outdoorsman or an unyielding homebody, there are certain gadgets that you should own as a man. Here we have prepared a list of the top 20 gadgets that every man should own:

1. Tablet/E-book Reader

Books are awesome but you will agree that carrying 12 of them around at any point time is not convenient. If you have a to-read list that is packed with many titles, an E-book reader or a tablet is one gadget that will make your life easier. These devices will allow you to keep up with your reading list without taking up any space in your house. We absolutely recommend the 2021 Apple 11-inch iPad Pro with 256GB and the All-new Kindle Paperwhite with 8GB memory.

3. Digital Watch/Fitness Tracker

Working out is hard enough as it is. A fitness tracker or a digital watch can help you monitor your heart rate, calculate your steps and even study your cardio fitness level. Digital watches have the capacity to document distance traveled and can also help record your gym progress.

The Apple Watch Series 7 can perform all these functions and more; it has incredible features like 45mm size and 32 GB internal memory. It is crack and swim proof. When it comes down to fitness trackers, the Fitbit Inspire 2 Health and Fitness Tracker is an excellent men's gadget. It can measure heart rate and record all day activities. You can even use it to compete with friends to get more motivation.
