"Using energy more efficiently is one of the easiest, most cost-effective ways to save money, reduce greenhouse gas emissions, create jobs, and reduce the growing energy demand."

Catherine Osborne, Senior Director of Sustainability Advisory Services at ENGIE Impact, brings 18 years of expertise in advising global businesses on sustainability-related challenges. She currently leads a U.S.-based team of credentialed advisors and analysts specializing in energy, carbon, climate, and waste. Catherine's people-centered approach is rooted in early field experience, conducting energy and waste audits. She's since had a hand in guiding ENGIE Impact's clients through impactful sustainability strategies that engage talent and drive value creation. Catherine currently focuses on helping organizations develop holistic and integrated approaches to addressing climate-related governance, risk management, and compliance.

Catherine is a certified Project Management Professional (PMP®), and she holds a Sustainability and Climate Risk (SCR®) certificate from the Global Association of Risk Professionals (GARP).
