About Deanne

Expertise

Waste Compliance ServicesSustainable Waste Advising

Deanne Fultz, Sustainability Waste Advising Manager at ENGIE Impact, has 19+ years of experience with operations and project management, including 13 years in the waste industry. She advises on waste regulation compliance and waste reduction and diversion strategies, which have resulted in increased regulatory compliance, regulatory fine reductions, and improved diversion rates across many industries, including health care, manufacturing, retail, and hospitality.

Deanne is passionate about driving strategies that reduce client waste and finding alternative solutions to landfilling. She holds a Bachelor's in Business Administration and an Associate's in Electronics Engineering, as well as a LEED Green Associate and TRUE Advisor certificate. Deanne lives in North Idaho and enjoys spending time outdoors gardening, camping, fishing, and hiking.
