

Taiwo Fagbohunge

Master's Student in English | Published Author

Portfolio: <https://sites.google.com/asu.edu/taiwo/home>

Professional Summary

Driven Master's student in English with a deep passion for literature, postcolonial studies, and storytelling. Published author of a civil rights novel based on historical events, and co-authored with a seasoned attorney. Strong academic foundation, mentored by professionals, and equipped with skills in research, writing, editing, and critical analysis.

Education

Master of Arts in English Studies (In Progress)

Arizona State University

Bachelor of Arts in English

Adekunle Ajasin University, Nigeria

Work & Experience

Co-Author, 'Because I'm Black: The Story of Jesse Washington'

Archway Publishing | 2024

- Co-wrote a historical biographical novel exploring racial injustice in early 20th-century America.
- Conducted extensive historical research and collaborated closely with D.W. Duke.
- Promoted the book through multiple online platforms.

Landlord & Property Manager

- Manage multiple apartments and oversee tenant relations.
- Handle maintenance, budgeting, and conflict resolution.

Taiwo Fagbohunge

Master's Student in English | Published Author

Portfolio: <https://sites.google.com/asu.edu/taiwo/home>

Skills

- Creative and academic writing
- Literary analysis and postcolonial theory
- Research and critical thinking
- Editing and proofreading
- Digital portfolio creation
- Tenant and property management

Publications & Projects

'Because I'm Black: The Story of Jesse Washington' - A civil rights novel published with Archway Publishing, available on Amazon and other major platforms.