

Content C Assignment

Blog post:

Our group had the privilege to sit down and interview Professor Jessica James, who currently teaches at the School of Journalism and Mass Communications at Texas State University. During the interview, she shared a wealth of insight into her career, her journey into academia, and her approach to teaching. In addition to her teaching role, she serves as the course coordinator for Media Writing, the foundational writing course for electronic media and journalism majors. This role allows her to shape the future of aspiring journalists, equipping them with the essential writing skills needed to thrive in the rapidly evolving media landscape. Prior to moving to Texas, Jessica worked as a reporter at the Morning Journal in Lorain, Ohio. Her reporting career expanded beyond that, as she wrote for a variety of newspapers, including the Fostoria Review Times and the Sandusky Register. These experiences gave her a solid foundation in journalism and provided her with the hands-on, real-world knowledge that she now imparts to her students. Jessica received her M.A in Mass Communication from Texas State University and her B.S in journalism from Bowling Green, Ohio. Throughout the interview, it was clear that Professor James is not only passionate about her work but also deeply appreciative of her colleagues. She spoke fondly of the collaborative atmosphere at Texas State University and the positive relationships she shares with her peers. Her enthusiasm for both the field of journalism and her role as an educator shines through in everything she does, making her a valuable mentor and role model for her students.

Raw Image:

Edited:

Caption: Welcome back to school bobcats! Meet one of our beloved Journalism professors, Jessica James! She is so excited to be back to teaching journalism at SJMC this semester, as she has so much knowledge to give. She has a background in reporting, and says this hands on experience allows her to feel the depth of teaching mass communication. Catch her in Old Main this semester when we get back to learning! #xstjournalism #SJMCfaculty

Extra: edited as an instagram post

txstsjmc · Follow
San Marcos, Texas

146,934 likes

txstsjmc Welcome back to school bobcats! Meet one of our beloved Journalism professors, Jessica James! She is so excited to be back to teaching journalism at SJMC this semester, as she has so much knowledge to give. She has a background in reporting, and says this hands on experience allows her to feel the depth of teaching mass communication. Catch her in Old Main this semester when we get back to learning! #txstjournalism #SJMCfaculty ...

more

View all 16 comments

Add a comment...

6 days ago

Raw and edited Video:
Submitted to canvas.