Revolutionary Events Require Stable Foundations

25 Years of Purpose-Built Solutions

As a world leader in managed internet services, Backstage Networks has earned its reputation by delivering powerful, reliable WiFi to live events around the globe. There are enough unknowns to navigate in event production—don't let your network performance be one of them. With a dedicated full-management partner, you can reduce uncertainty and increase your connectivity. All you need is a company that can provide custom-made network solutions for your event.

[The graphic on the website regarding events, user-devices supported, customer retention and uptime should go beneath this paragraph. It is a strong visual and supports the experience claim]

[The text below should go on the right-hand side of the page]

Working with a full-management partner takes the hassle out of event production. Not only do you no longer need to worry about finding a WiFi provider, you also gain a partner capable of managing your entire WiFi lifecycle. No matter whether you are producing a corporate event, product launch, brand activation, music festival, sporting match or multi-day conference, Backstage Networks can provide the network expertise you need for a flawless experience.

Along with up-to-the-minute reporting, you will also receive event-specific guidance across critical network functions, such as:

- WiFi Procurement and Management
- Technology Advisory Services
- Internet Access/Bandwidth
- Wired and Wireless Data Networks
- Network Security
- Attendee Engagement Platforms

Three Keys to Event Success

Performance: As an event producer, you need to know your network solution provides all the power you need with zero lag-time. Failproof offerings are rare in this industry, but Backstage Networks has a track record of delivering powerful solutions with tracking metrics so you can monitor the success of your event.

Reliability: When events are equipped with purpose-driven network solutions, it empowers event organizers and participants alike. A good WiFi provider can deliver strong WiFi, but a great full-management partner can overcome any venue or logistical difficulty before, during and after your event.

Experience: When you've seen it all, you know how to respond to any challenge while communicating with clients every step of the way. After 1,500 events and counting, Backstage Networks understands the unique challenges posed by live events, and we're here to support your production team with unbiased insights and operational flexibility.

Create Unforgettable Memories with Unbeatable Solutions