THE BEST HOLIDAY YOU'VE NEVER TAKEN

Beyond expectations

50 is the new 30, right?

The thing with being over 50 is that almost no-one feels over 50. At least, not until they are some way over. And even then, the notion of being one's actual age often feels slightly ridiculous. Today, more than ever, with better diets, healthier habits and more active and adventurous lifestyles, we aren't as 'old' as we used to be. If you speak to anyone who's now classed as 'middle aged' they'll tell you that they still have the heart and mind of their younger selves. We've come a long way from those stereotypes of smoking pipes and tanned tights.

How old do you feel?

The adage that 'you're only as old as you feel' feels true. Because our psychological age – how we feel, act and behave – is far more significant to us than just the number of birthdays we've had. So, if someone suggests doing something that 'old' people do and you don't feel that old, you naturally won't feel it's for you.

Enter Saga. But wait, isn't Saga for older people? Well, Saga is for people over the age of 50. Whether you feel that's old or not is up to you.

So why over-50s?

If you're in the over 50s club, you might agree that being in our 50s is a time of growth, exploration, and amazing new opportunities. This stage of life often brings greater clarity about our personal goals, relationships, and priorities – one of which is travel. Being over 50 offers some significant benefits.

- You're more likely to be able to travel in off-peak seasons having (generally) got most of the parenting out of the way.
- You perhaps have less patience for all the faff of planning every aspect of your holiday and would prefer someone else to sort out the details.
- You're closer to, or in, retirement so you're less focused on work and possibly have more free time to do the things that matter to you the most.
- And you're more aware that time passes too quickly - and perhaps wanting to finally realise those travel dreams.

When you look at it that way, being over 50 is an IDEAL stage of life to get more from your travels. And no-one is better at helping you do that than Saga Holidays...

“ Probably one of the best holidays we’ve ever been on. Fun, adventurous, mind-blowing and memorable. We absolutely loved it - from the moment we were collected to being dropped off at home again. We were looked after the whole way, ate great food, were wined and dined and lived in luxury at the lodges.”

Stephen and Viv
from BBC1’s Race Across the World

Why choose Saga Holidays?

The difference is in the detail. We take care of everything, so you don’t have to. Your time is precious – we know that.

So, when it comes to holidays, going big on the little details makes all the difference. From tickets and timings to luggage and local expertise, knowing that everything’s in hand allows you to focus on the most important bit – enjoying every single part of your holiday to the full. And that’s the true value of travelling with Saga.

We know what makes a holiday outstanding. From specially selecting your accommodation to arranging VIP door-to-door transfers, we do all the legwork, so you don’t have to. Whether you’re jetting off for a week of R&R or embarking on an adventurous guided itinerary, you know you can expect the exceptional – every step of the way.

Experience tells us...

That one size doesn’t fit all. Our customers know what they want, and how they want to travel. So, at Saga, we make sure that across our range of holidays, we not only offer unbeatable value, but we meticulously plan and design them to be completely hassle-free.

It’s why we’ve created a diverse collection of holidays where you’re sure to find something as unique as you. From perfectly planned, expertly led escorted group tours and independent holidays, you’ll be able to explore extraordinary destinations across seven continents on carefully thought-out itineraries. The kind of adventures that take months of planning to get right. So, that’s where we come in. Everything’s taken care of, every detail considered. There’ll be free time too, to relax or explore on your own.

Maybe you just want to chill. Drink delicious wines, eat good food, people watch in outdoor cafés, and top up your tan in sun-soaked climes. Our collection of hosted hotels have been chosen for their comfortable rooms, relaxing atmospheres, good facilities, convenient locations – and all for excellent value. We offer a variety of stays including smaller, family-run hotels, larger hotels with spas and multiple restaurants, as well as half-board and great value all-inclusive options that aren’t available through other operators.

Fancy something a bit more exotic? Take your pick of tropical beach stays in luxurious hotels across the world including Thailand, the Caribbean and Mauritius. The choice is entirely yours.

Explore the world with Saga Holidays

Being over 50 is a badge of honour. Like fine wine, you’ve got better over time. Having done most of the hard graft of achieving your ambitions throughout your career and personal life, settling into your 50s should be a doddle. It’s now your moment to enjoy and savour other pursuits such as exploring the world. And no other company is more dedicated to, or experienced in, helping you do that than Saga.

So, while you might have never considered taking a Saga Holiday before, perhaps now is the time? It could well prove to be the best holiday you’ve never taken. Until now...

Quote SAGA10

Whatever your age, travel broadens your mind and enriches your life. There’s no greater feeling than stepping off a plane and being engulfed with unfamiliar smells and sounds – the hallmarks of an upcoming adventure.

Travel can make you feel alive. It gives you a renewed sense of curiosity and the energy to explore, learn and discover. At Saga Holidays, we understand that – it’s all about that growing anticipation from planning and booking to counting down the sleeps before you begin packing – and that exhilarating trepidation as you set off from home to travel to your destination. It’s exciting.

We love the saying: ‘Life’s too short, and the world is wide.’ Why? Because it’s true! But travelling long distances isn’t just about embracing new cultures, visiting incredible places, trying new food, and meeting people. It’s also about those collective experiences. Those magical encounters that’ll live rent free in your mind forever. Choose a Saga holiday, and you’ll get all this and more...

Waking up gently to the sounds of the African savannah in a thatched lodge having made your own way across South Africa on a self-drive tour. Zig-zagging via rail across the Indian countryside while sipping a cup of warm chai tea. Getting floury hands and perfecting your cookery skills as you sit down to a steaming bowl of udon noodle soup in Japan. Sipping a perfectly chilled glass of Okanagan Valley wine as the peaks of the Canadian Rockies soar past your train window...

Time waits for no one. Stop dreaming of your next far-flung adventure and let Saga Holidays turn your travel wish list into a travel tick list.

Quote SAGA10

Do you have a favourite spot on the sofa? Will you always use the same mug when making a cup of tea? There’s nothing wrong with familiarity and routine, it’s what makes us... well, us. And when it comes to travel, while we love exploring new destinations for the first time – it is, after all, one of the joys of travelling – there’s also great pleasure in revisiting places you’ve already been to.

European classics like Italy and Spain. You may have already holidayed in both, eaten seafood-laden paella in the Spanish sunshine or dipped your toes into the cooling waters of the Amalfi Coast. You’ve probably got-lost-on-purpose in the maze of cobblestoned streets of Croatia’s ancient towns. Or walked through crumbling ruins and the palm-lined promenades of Cyprus.

The thing is, whether you’ve already been to these wonderful countries (or not) Saga Holidays has award-winning escorted tours and hosted hotels across a variety of timeless European destinations – that’ll all reveal a different side. Gain the freedom to delve further and learn more, discover new experiences and set eyes on exciting new places that you may not even have known about.

Sail to sleepy Croatian villages and find cosy tavernas for dinner along the Dalmatian coast. Discover lakeside charm and soak in a hot tub under the domineering shadow of the Dolomites in Italy’s Molveno. Travel through Spain’s fortified cities and discover a contrast of culture and landscapes in Andalusia and Valencia – or even stay put and live like the locals do in Costa Blanca. Think you know how to holiday in Europe? Think again.

Cascading down a steep hillside overlooking the Bay of Naples and mighty Mount Vesuvius, Sorrento is the gateway to the delights of the Amalfi Coast. Away from the bustling warren of twisting narrow streets that make up Sorrento’s picturesque old town, we’ll take to the sparkling waters to explore the fabled towns along the iconic Amalfi coast, including Positano and Amalfi. You’ll also have the chance to roam the lemon-tree clad hills and visit the glamorous island of Capri.
