

one last thing

DAVID BECKHAM

When he's not in his London townhouse, you can find David, 49, in the sprawling gardens of his Cotswolds mansion. Becks also enjoys tending to his chickens and looking after his beehives.

JAMIE OLIVER

Professional chef Jamie, 49, loves quality produce – which is exactly why he's the proud owner of his own thriving veggie patch. Just look at the size of that cabbage!

OPRAH WINFREY

TV legend Oprah, 71, owns multiple properties in California, including a 44-acre home to grow plenty of fruit and veg. Describing gardening as her 'joy', she refuses to use any harsh chemicals.

Green fingers

These stars love getting messy in the garden

PAMELA ANDERSON

Baywatch star Pamela, 57, has described her remote Vancouver Island garden as being her 'playground.' Alongside raised beds for her veggies, Pamela loves to add colour and smells with an array of gorgeous flowers.

KING CHARLES

Charles's passion for the environment has seen him nicknamed the 'Green King.' A dab hand in the garden, the nature-loving monarch, 76, even transformed his Highgrove estate into an organic wonderland.

HOLLY WILLOUGHBY

Holly, 44, has been open about her love for gardening. In particular, she follows lunar gardening – which uses the moon's gravitational pull to help your garden flourish. How magical!

SNOOP DOGG

There's no weeds here for Snoop Dogg! The Drop It Like It's Hot rapper, 53, is very green fingered, taking fans along for the ride as he re-potted his thriving houseplants.

