Harry's BIG BLUE COAT TOUR

He's swapped stadiums for the streets

Harry Styles has been popping up all across the globe, rocking a signature look of oversized sunnies, a Rivals-worthy moustache – and a big blue coat. The As It Was singer – whose earnings were recently reported to be £872,000 per week – donned the outerwear to Lime bike across London, stroll around Berlin, and, er, witness the election of the new Pope in Rome. We were gutted, however, to see he left it at home while running the Tokyo Marathon. We may be missing Harry's music, but at least we've got this big blue coat tour to keep us amused! ■

Hopefully the jacket watched him run the Tokyo Marathon from somewhere nice
