

DAVID CROSS

Your kids may have loved the Alvin And The Chipmunks movies, but contractually-obligated to appear, David, 61, dubbed third film Chipwrecked the most 'unpleasant experience' of his life. He revealed, 'All I wanted to do was to get the f**k out of there... and buy a summer home with the cheque.' Not a bad silver lining, Dave.

His holiday home has a no-pets rule

HALLE BERRY

Halle Berry's turn as Catwoman in the 2004 car crash of the same name stank so badly, it earned her an award for worst actress. She took it all in good humour, and it gave her the chance to drop some truth bombs. 'I want to thank Warner Brothers for putting me in a piece-of-shit, godawful movie,' she said. 'I was at the top... Catwoman just plummeted me to the bottom.'

Catwoman: dogshit

KATHERINE HEIGL

Knocked Up was an instant hit in the world of noughties romcoms – but leading lady Katherine, 46, found the whole thing 'a little sexist'. On the 2007 movie, she said, 'It paints the women as shrews, humourless and uptight, and the men as loveable and goofy. I had a hard time with it.' Good point, well made.

TFW you realise your movie's actually a load of sexist crap

ARNOLD SCHWARZENEGGER

Opening up about 1985's Red Sonja, Arnold, 77, shared, 'It's the worst film I ever made. When my kids get out of line, they're sent to their rooms and forced to watch Red Sonja 10 times. I never had too much trouble with them.' Talk about a parenting hack!

This film needed to be terminated

JACOB ELORDI

Netflix's The Kissing Booth franchise is so popular, it's garnered three hit movies – but for heartthrob Jacob, 27, the romcoms are certainly not top of his CV. 'I didn't want to make those movies,' the actor revealed, adding, 'They're ridiculous. They're not universal, they're an escape.' Lighten up, Jacob!

'I'm a serious artist, babe'

No matter how much money a movie makes, it's bound to amass an array of naysayers – and sometimes that includes the stars themselves

Cursed role

ZOE SALDANA

Zoe had an interesting take on starring in 2003's Pirates Of The Caribbean: Curse Of The Black Pearl. 'It was very elitist,' the 46 year old revealed. 'I almost quit the business! I was 23 years old and I was like, "F**k this! I am never putting myself in this situation again".'

CHANNING TATUM

Magic Mike? Yes. Playing a soldier based on a popular toy franchise? Not so much. Talking about working on GI Joe: The Rise Of Cobra, Channing, 45, said, 'I'll be honest, I f**king hate that movie. I was pushed into doing it. The script wasn't any good.'

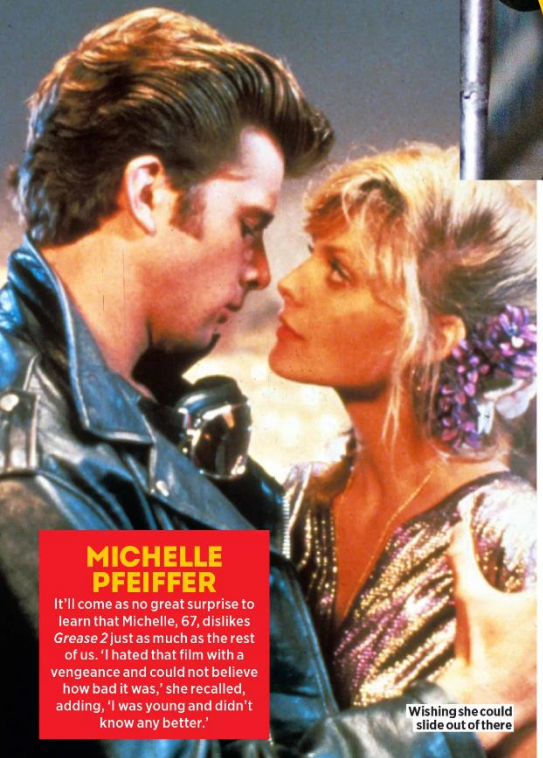

We'd polish his weapon, though

MICHELLE PFEIFFER

It'll come as no great surprise to learn that Michelle, 67, dislikes Grease 2 just as much as the rest of us. 'I hated that film with a vengeance and could not believe how bad it was,' she recalled, adding, 'I was young and didn't know any better.'

Wishing she could slide out of there

The actors WHO HATE THEIR OWN FILMS!

heat news

WORDS: LOTTERBERRIES PHOTOS: ALAMY/SHUTTERSTOCK