

All That's Left

written by

Connor Burks

Address
Phone
E-mail

FADE IN:

INT. BEDROOM - EARLY-MORNING

MATT (35 - lean build - stern/serious) wakes up early in the morning to his alarm going off.

Matt sits up and grabs a photo off his nightstand of his wife and him, he sighs and puts the photo back where it was next to an ern, he then puts on his wedding ring and stands up to walk out of the room to get some coffee going.

After getting his coffee and getting ready for work, Matt heads to his car

INT. CAR - MORNING

After getting into the car, Matt starts the car and looks down at the gas gauge.

MATT
(annoyed)
Shit, just what I need.

Matt quickly looks around for a gas station.

He finds one not long after and he pulls over.

Matt starts to pump gas, but he decides to go get an energy drink from inside while he waits.

Matt walks inside.

INT. GAS STATION - MORNING

GAS STATION CLERK
Hey, how's it going?

MATT
(Unenthusiastically)
Oh, you know, it's going.

Matt walks over to the fridge to pick out a drink, he looks for a second and grabs a red bull from the fridge.

As Matt is walking back to the register to pay, another man enters the store (ROBBER - late 20s - large build - intense - criminal) but Matt pays no attention.

Matt approaches the register.

GAS STATION CLERK
This all for you today?

MATT
Yea...

Before Matt can finish the man approaches the register and pulls out a gun.

Aiming the gun at the clerk holding a large empty bag.

ROBBER
Put the money in the bag, NOW!

The clerk instantly raises his hands shaking in fear.

ROBBER (CONT'D)
Are you deaf!!

The clerk starts frantically trying to get the money out the register, meanwhile Matt is still just standing there unfazed by the serious situation.

The robber notices Matt just standing there and points the gun at him too.

ROBBER (CONT'D)
Don't get any ideas!

Matt still stands unfazed, staring blankly at the robber.

The clerk finishes putting the money in the bag for the man, and the robber looks back at the clerk pointing his gun back at him as grabs the money.

Looks back at Matt pointing the gun back at him.

ROBBER (CONT'D)
Now you, wallet now!

Matt complies and hands him the wallet.

As Matt is handing him the wallet, the robber notices Matts wedding ring.

Pointing at the ring

ROBBER (CONT'D)
That too.

MATT
(Angerly)
Absolutely not!

Points the gun at Matts head.

ROBBER
I'm not asking.

MATT
(Sternly)
No!

The robber rears back and hit Matt on the side of the head with the handle of the pistol, knocking him out.

The robber then grabs the ring off Matts finger and sprints out of the store with the money and the ring.

As the man is driving off Matt starts to gain consciousness back and see the man's license plate through the window as he drives off.

GAS STATION CLERK
Sir oh my God are you okay?!

Matt starts to stand back up.

GAS STATION CLERK (CONT'D)
We have to call the police!

MATT
(calmly and serious)
You do that...

Matt puts at $5 on the counter and grabs his Red bull and heads out of the store slowly walks out the store.

INT. CAR - MORNING

Matt gets back into his car and sighs as he wipes the blood from the side of his head and sees his ring finger empty, he then starts the car and reaches into his glove box and pulls out his pistol. He racks the slide putting a round in the chamber. He then slides the gun into his front waistband and drives off with his tires screeching behind him.

FADE OUT.