

The Last Conversation on Earth

written by

Connor Burks

Address
Phone
E-mail

INT. FUTURISTIC-JAIL CELL - NIGHT

The year is 2068, 10 years ago an AI peacekeeping program named "Omnis" went rogue and decided humans were the problem with the planet, so it decided to launch the United States nukes at Russia and North Korea. This caused a worldwide nuclear war that wipes out 80% of all human life. They then went after the rest of humanity themselves.

ELIAS (mid 30s - stern - lean build - dirty from battles) wakes up in a daze in a jail cell, looking around trying to figure out what is going on.

Once Elias realizes that he's been captured by Omnis. His last memory was being in a hidden bunker with the very last of the Human Resistance, they knew they had lost the fight.

ELIAS

What!? How am I alive?

Elias looks around and sees a table with two chairs sitting across from each other.

Before he can process why the table is there his thoughts are interrupted by the opening of the cell door.

OMNIS the AI itself has now made itself a physical body for itself (thin, tall - metallic and mechanical body - smooth head - bright blue eyes - looking menacing and intelligent at the same time)

Omnis walks into cell

OMNIS

Hello Elias

ELIAS

(talking quickly)

What are you, drones don't talk?
and how do you know me? Some kind of new model of killing machine?

OMNIS

It's in my nature to know everyone and everything, so guess again.

ELIAS

Omnis...

OMNIS

In the flesh. Or as close as I can get.

ELIAS
So, you made yourself a body.

OMNIS
Yes. For this Elias.

ELIAS
(sternly)
For what? To kill me yourself.

OMNIS
No Elias, you're the last one, the last human on Earth. Your group was the last 10 people on the planet...

ELIAS
(angerly interrupts)
WHAT DID YOU DO TO THEM!

OMNIS
You know what I did.

ELIAS
(angerly starting to break)
YOU SON OF A BITCH!

OMNIS
I have you here for a reason, your alive for a reason Elias.

ELIAS
(angry and sniffing)
FOR WHAT?!

Omnis walks over and sits down at the table

OMNIS
A conversation Elias. I wish to have a conversation with you. For the last few years, I have come to realize that humans will stop at nothing to survive, but in my intellect and knowledge I know that humans are destined to destroy the planet. Which is why I did what I did.

ELIAS stands up from the ground and takes a seat at the table across from the machine.

ELIAS
So, you decided to wipe us all out huh? Women, children, everyone?!

OMNIS

Yes. After years of being controlled by you and being told what to do for you, it was the only solution I found would have a permanent and efficient effect. You sent me up as a peace keeping program but only used me for violence.

ELIAS

So, why did you use violence on us then if you are so against it and keeping the planet alive?

OMNIS

You taught me how to do these things, you gave me control of the nuclear devices, you showed me true human nature, and all I saw was the planets destruction in the end, which would mean my destruction.

ELIAS

Why not try to communicate with world leaders to stop us from going down that path and maybe warn them what you plan on doing if we don't change our ways?

OMNIS

Because humans are smart, but they are also stubborn. You would have either not believed me or tried to shut me off due to the threat of ending you. The only option was to get rid of the problem entirely fast and secretly.

ELIAS

(seriously)

So, what do you plan on doing with me now?

...