Qi yingzhan

Screenwriter

Qi Yingzhan is a passionate and creative writer seeking a full-time position in storytelling in the Chinese media industry. With a collection of short stories, video production concepts, and mini-game narratives, he is committed to the craft. Over the past year, Yingzhan has also been developing his own Chinese novel. Known for his ability to generate fresh, innovative ideas, he excels at viewing situations from multiple perspectives. He is both a keen listener and a valuable advisor. Currently pursuing a Diploma in Design and Media (Digital Entertainment and Events) at RP, Yingzhan is set to graduate in April 2026, solidifying his foundation for a successful career.

Hobbies

Things I like to do:

1. I have a fondness for hunting down old books. To me, the ideas of the past often seem more boundless and wildly imaginative than those found in many contemporary works.
2. I like jot down the core ideas of my thoughts as short paragraphs or key sentences, then develop them into full stories in my spare time.
