

Johnny Manziel is threatening Gillie the Kid over his beef with Cam Newton! Gillie didn't hold back his response either.

Gillie the Kid and Cam Newton have been going back-and-forth about a take on Jalen Hurts. But who would've known Johnny Manziel would jump in the middle of it and start dissing Gillie the Kid?! Looks like everything Gillie said so far has gotten to Manziel. So he's taking Cam's side. Judging from the way his football career went from an impact standpoint, he may be justified in his stance. Gillie doesn't think so. Here's what happened:

Johnny Manziel says he'll slap the Philly cheesesteak out of Gillie. All the stuff he said about Cam isn't going to fly with Johnny Football. So he's willing to do something about it. But is it that serious? Johnny Manziel thinks Gillie is a straight up loser for making a big deal out of Cam's take regarding Jalen Hurts. Newton doesn't think Hurts is a top-10 quarterback. Talented, but not top 10. Maybe saying it on his podcast gave the take an extra boost that ran across the desks of some of the people who responded. But Cam didn't just say it without fleshed out details. He doesn't think Hurts is in that tier because the rest of the Eagles personnel is super elite. So in Cam's eyes, Hurts is more of a game manager right now than a quarterback who's depended upon to lead his team to W's. That take didn't go over too well with a few people, some of which are former NFL players. And from the looks of it, Hurts' performance in the 2024 Super Bowl has them feeling like he is. However, despite their opinions, fire started getting hotter when Gillie jumped in the argument.

Gillie is a die hard Eagles fan. And if there's one thing to be known about Eagles fans, it's their passion for the team. And not just any passion. We're talking about flipping a car over whether they win or lose passion. Eagles fans have been turned up since Hurts and the Eagles beat the reigning champs and current dynasty, the Kansas City Chiefs, in the Superbowl in a dominating fashion. So hearing their beloved Super Bowl winning quarterback isn't a top 10 quarterback — - isn't going to slide that easy. Gillie's insults were directed at Cam not winning an NFL championship, even though he got there. So Cam fired back with a few insults of his own, pointing out Gillie's music career not being as fruitful as his football career. And keep in mind that Cam Newton was far from a scrub when he played. Won MVP, Rookie of the Year, beat Ohio State in the National Championship game before being drafted as the #1 overall pick to the Carolina Panthers, and even led the team to a 15-1 record and a Super Bowl appearance. At the end of the day, Newton has a lot to gloat about. But one move seems to define his career: not jumping on a fumble in the Super Bowl that made an even bigger swing in the game.

At this point, Newton may be used to people saying that about him. But for Gillie, he had extra venom for. Mainly because in his eyes, Gillie looks like a mascot for the Eagles. He'll run out with the team, wears a giant Eagles hat during the season, and parades around like a walking advertisement for the team. All Newton wants Gillie to do ——— is shut up and be a fan. Gillie wants Cam to stop talking about his team's quarterback like he's a scrub. And Manziel wants Gillie to stop talking like he could play in the NFL. Manziel knows how it feels to be a quarterback depended on to bring wins. He was a beast in high school and college, doing the most magical stuff on the football field while being cocky about it. He even won the Heisman, as a freshman mind you, just like Newton did. His career was derailed by drug and alcohol addiction. But even with those vices, he was still a baller. Gillie punched back at Manziel with a suggestion: go to some AA meetings and stay out of black people's business. And to make sure it's understood, he made that suggestion like he took Mike Tyson blows to the face. If you know what I mean.

Manziel didn't have an immediate response to the suggestion but it wouldn't be surprising for the beef to go longer than expected. I mean, this topic has the sports world (especially the NFL world) going crazy! Some agree, others don't. But in the end, there's one thing left out of the argument: Newton gave Hurts praise while keeping it real. The whole thing is wild but ---- it gets the people going. Do you believe Jalen Hurts is a top 10 quarterback? Do you believe Manziel will actually slap Gillie when he sees him? Let us know!
