

Nayeli Arevalo

JOUR 120

Trump's address to Congress left many Americans speechless

On March 4th, Trump addressed a joint session of Congress in Washington, D.C. During this session, he presented a list of his early accomplishments. While presenting this list in front of Congress, he was very expressive in his pride in these achievements. As Trump stated, “This is a time for big dreams and bold action.”

Upon taking the stage, Trump emphasized on his decision to withdraw the United States from the World Health Organization. He calls this organization “ The corrupt World Health Organization” and then goes on to say how he has also withdrawn the United States from the anti-American UN Human Rights Council. During this session, he also shares with Congress how he has ended all the environmental restrictions that were placed by our former president, Joe Biden. Trump then goes on to call these environmental restrictions “ far less safe and totally unaffordable”.

Trump not only shares his pride on those achievements, but he also emphasizes on how he has implemented a freeze on all federal regulations, foreign aid, and also on federal hiring. After doing so, he also shares that he has “terminated the ridiculous green news scam”. As Trump is sharing all these achievements, he is getting a standing ovation and applause from his fellow republicans.