PROFILE

My love for the creation of news, both in writing and on television grew from many years of dancing, singing and acting where I learned to connect with an audience and communicate confidently. I am an engaging and vibrant person who enjoys speaking with others and capturing an audience. I consider myself a creative and proactive individual who makes thoughtful, well-informed decisions. Beyond presenting, I am deeply curious about how stories are developed, written produced and delivered on live television. I am particularly motivated by the fast-paced and team-driven environment of a newsroom and the opportunity to follow stories throughout the day, from being out on location with a news crew to the editing process. My passion for how news informs and inspires audiences drives my ambition to contribute meaningfully to Seven News while continuing to develop as a journalist and TV presenter.
