

Global Print's Core Publishing Team Wins Prestigious "Innovator of the Year" Award!

Today, the Global Print Core Publishing Solutions team has been named Printing Impressions' 2024 "Innovator of the Year"! This recognition is a testament to the team's incredible journey of transformation and innovation in the printing industry.

The Core Publishing Solutions team has an over 150-year history, publishing and manufacturing books in the legal and tax sector. With the changing times, CPS has been at the forefront of the publishing industry, transforming and adapting to new developments.

Our 1.3 million-square-foot facility in Eagan, Minnesota is staffed by a highly dedicated and skilled team of nearly 500 employees who work around the clock to deliver for our customers. The facility is a cutting-edge center for book manufacturing, warehousing, custom kitting, and fulfillment.

Jennifer Prescott, President of Global Print, shared her excitement for the award: 'I'm incredibly proud of our CPS team for receiving this prestigious award. We consistently and efficiently deliver high quality products for our professional customers in legal and tax. The team is leveraging the latest technology and pushing boundaries in the world of commercial publishing and their innovative spirit is truly remarkable. The integral role they play in Global Print and at Thomson Reuters cannot be overstated. Congratulations to everyone involved!'

The Eagan facility was originally built to primarily serve the Legal business, but also now produces print products for the Tax business and Canada as well. In 2013, the Core Publishing Solutions brand was launched forming a commercial business to serve publishers outside of Thomson Reuters and across broad markets of books. Today, Core Publishing Solutions provides services to over 100 publishers outside Thomson Reuters. The team is passionate about innovation and integrating the latest tech, like high-speed inkjet printing and workflow automation, into their processes.

"This award is an outstanding recognition of our team's relentless pursuit of innovation and excellence," shared Steve Zweber. "I am thankful for the dedication and hard work of our CPS team as they continue to adapt and excel in a changing industry landscape."

The work is not done yet! Looking forward, Core Publishing Solutions is dedicated to continuing investing in innovation including collaborative robotics and workflow automation. These advancements are essential in providing innovative solutions and exceptional service for our publishing customers.

Viva Engage:

Congratulations to the Global Print Core Publishing Solutions (CPS) Team for being named Innovator of the Year!

Today, our very own Global Print Core Publishing Solutions team has been named Printing Impressions' 2024 "Innovator of the Year"! This recognition is a testament to the team's incredible journey of transformation and innovation in the printing industry. Learn more about the award here.