Set the tone

Simple clay accessories in rough glazes and organic shapes echo the effects of time and weather, giving a calm, lived-in feel.

Laetitia Rouget Blue Tulip vase, £255, Jack & Abel. For similar vases and pots, try Design Vintage, The Conran Shop and Graham & Green

DECORATE

Timeworn texture

The uneven style of these tiles – used on one wall to bring depth and character to the room – reflects the natural fading and irregular surfaces you'd find in a sunny climate.

Davey Square pendant, from £785, Original BTC. For similar wall tiles, try Quorn Stone. For a similar sofa, try Dust. For a similar side table, try H&M Home. For a similar coffee table, try Wayfair. For a similar rug, try Next Home

Complementary colour

A hit of deep forest green creates a grounded look when framing a fireplace. Softer shades such as olive or sage would work equally well.

Cloudy White bejmat (rectangular) tiles, £149/sq m; Moss Green zellige tiles, £145/sq m; Porton zellige tiles in Moss Green and Cloudy White, £1.99 each; all from the Medina range, Fired Earth x Bert & May. For a similar armchair, try Rowlin & Wren. For a similar floor lamp, try M&S. For a similar pot, try Zoo Lane.

Tactile touches

A woven jute rug, cushions covered in a slubby fabric and wooden furniture add rich texture to a simple neutral scheme, blending effortlessly with the soft limewashed walls.

Byron coffee table, £399; Jute rug, £349; both Atkin and Thyme. For a similar cushion, try La Redoute.

Statement styling

Furniture and ceramic vases in bold shapes as well as abstract artwork add visual interest while still allowing soft plaster-pink walls to shine.

Hampstead cabinet, £990, Swoon. For a similar artwork, try Artista Store. For similar vases, try Nordic Nest or Perch & Parrow

COLLABORATION
Hillarys x Jonathan Adler

The legendary interior designer on teaming up with Hillarys to bring his iconic prints from the US to British blinds and curtains

THE UK IS THE MOST WINDOW DRESSING-FOCUSED PLACE ON EARTH

In America, people are less curtain-obsessed, so I've always wanted to get my hands on British windows. Collaborating with Hillarys seemed like the perfect way to do it and live out my Anglophile decorating fantasies.

THE COLLECTION NEEDED TO BE ACCESSIBLE AND CHIC I wanted to go with my most unimpeachable prints in a range of great colours. But while you need to get the patterns right, you also need to match them to the right fabrics, whether that's something heavy and velvety or light and cotton-like. I'd use the rich velvets in my London townhouse, then something a little quieter, like Inkdrop Ivory, in my country home. My husband Simon's office is a fantasy of blue, so I'm getting him the Roman blinds in Cobalt Piccadilly Dots – they're made for that room.

WINDOW DRESSINGS ARE LIKE ART FOR WINDOWS

They can bring a scheme together, frame or block a view, and introduce a note of pattern and colour where there is none. You're allowed to go a bit mad. They're also practical. I'm married to a Brit who is pathologically terrified of draughts, so they also importantly serve as draught excluders. FOR ME, DECORATING IS ALL ABOUT THE VIBE

My style is chic with a little wink of excentrique. When making bold choices, dip your toe in. Do something a bit brave, then you'll be like, "What have I been waiting for? It's time to live!"

WHEN PLAYING WITH PATTERN, THINK ABOUT SCALE

Small-scale patterns end up feeling like neutrals, so you should never be afraid of them. The key is to have a mix of small and big ones and make sure that they're not fighting with each other. I'M ALWAYS THINKING ABOUT HOW TO CHANGE THE HOUSE My husband doesn't know it, but I'm redoing our living room; I've made this incredible curved sofa that I don't think I can live without, but it requires a whole room change. Simon dressed windows at Barneys before he became a writer, so you'd think that, with strong opinions, handbags would be flying. Really, we only bicker about whose turn it is to make the tea.

Hillarys x Jonathan Adler's new collection features 25 fabrics across four colourways and is out now

ONE TO WATCH

Bertola Home Studio

Former primary school teacher Poppy Bertola traded in weekly lesson plans for crafting beautifully ruffled and lacquered frames. Now, the brand she started on maternity leave from her attic is stocked by retailers such as Anthropologie

From left Poppy with oval mirror, from £142; bobbin frame, from £20; mounts, from £4; frames, from £10; oblong mirror, from £115; full-length mirror, from £280; ruffle frame, from £30

I USED TO GIVE MY FRAMES AS GIFTS

I studied fine art at university and have always been creative. My maternity leave coincided with lockdown, and I taught myself to make bobbin-style frames that I could give my family as Christmas presents. They loved them, so I made more to sell on Etsy. At first, I thought that if I could sell two a week I'd be happy! But they took off – so much so that I couldn't juggle teaching full-time with fulfilling orders.

I KNEW I NEEDED TO FULLY COMMIT TO IT.

COLOUR ALWAYS SPARKS INSPIRATION

I'm drawn to vivid shades but prefer them when they've been slightly muted. I've always loved the way the brightly coloured canal boats near where we live are contrasted against the murky water below. My colour palettes always have a vintage, faded vibe.

FOR ME, IT'S IMPORTANT THAT PEOPLE CAN SEE THE MAKER'S HAND IN EACH PIECE

I like making products that look a bit quirky. It's boring to replicate something you can buy just about anywhere. I think what people like about the brand is the way it looks different and will help them tell their story. However, in today's world, where everything is Amazon and next-day delivery, it can be a challenge to explain why I need a longer lead time.

FRAMES ARE SO PERSONAL

You don't have to use them for photographs, but anything you want to cherish and display. There are some lovely stories: one customer used them for table numbers at their wedding, another framed their grandma's recipe. My hope is that they become heirlooms, passed down through the family and kept for ever.

I'M INSPIRED BY THE EVERYDAY

Someone walking down the street wearing a gorgeous, flowing skirt; the colourful shop fronts in the village we live in; the changing seasons... I try to take inspiration from the real world. It's easy to miss things or to fall into the trap of just copying what's already out there if you're only tuned into a screen.

MY INTERIORS STYLE IS 'LIVED-IN'

The vibe is just as important as the aesthetic. I love artful, playful spaces – definitely not show homes. Because I have kids, I've focused on creating a cosy, individual space that works for everyone and I've become braver about using colour.

I want the boys to remember their home as a happy place that reflected us as a family. BEING STOCKED BY ANTHROPOLOGIE WAS A 'PINCH ME' MOMENT

I grew up loving that store and would never have imagined I'd make a product that would be sold there. One of our frames was also recently used in a display at Selfridges, which was pretty surreal too.

NEXT, WE'RE GOING EVEN BIGGER

Frames, mirrors and lighting have been our focus so far, but we've got plenty more products in the pipeline. Watch this space!

Simple pleasures

Taking a moment to savour a few everyday rituals at home – the first coffee of the day, lighting a candle at dusk, a long chat at the dinner table – is the most affordable luxury out there

Words MARIE-CLAIRE DORKING

1 GET LOST IN A GOOD NOOK

Having a space dedicated to hunkering down is the perfect way to press pause on the day. When you want to create a quiet reading corner, the only elements you need are a chair large enough to curl up in, a table or shelf to set down a mug of hot chocolate (or a hot toddy) and a lamp. But we wouldn't say no to a cosy cushion, a soft, slubby throw and a natural rug – jute or sisal – for snuggles underneath.

USE SCENT TO UNWIND

Interiors brand Nkuku recently launched a debut home-fragrance collection. We asked Claire Horn (above), the brand's interior designer, how to create a comforting ritual using scent.

SCENT IS A POWERFUL WAY TO LAYER ATMOSPHERE WITHIN YOUR HOME. It can evoke a range of moods and emotions, and also has a remarkable ability to stir memories, which is a lovely feeling to bring into your living space.

CREATING A RITUAL AROUND FRAGRANCE CAN HELP SET THE TONE FOR YOUR DAY. Lavender and chamomile promote calm and relaxation. Energising scents, such as grapefruit, citrus, peppermint and tea tree, can refresh and clear the mind, while warming fragrances like clove and fig evoke a cosy, comforting atmosphere. Over time, you begin to associate these fragrances with certain moods and routines, helping to create a positive daily rhythm.

FRAGRANCES WORK BEST IN THE HOME WHEN THEY'RE USED CONSISTENTLY. Placing a scent diffuser in the entrance of your home can create a welcoming atmosphere. A fresh-cotton fragrance in the utility room complements the practical nature of the space, while a soothing, spa-inspired or 'azonic' scent in the bathroom enhances relaxation. In the bedroom, a gentle misting spray and luxurious hand pomade on the bedside table can help you unwind and drift off to sleep.

3 ORGANISATION IS AN ART

Believe it or not, the act of creating order in your space can help restore calm – in the kitchen especially. Keep your most beautiful everyday pieces – a collection of jugs, a stoneware bowl – on show, grouping crockery on open shelving in similar colour palettes, but varying heights to create interest and visual harmony. Invest in stylish yet thrifty storage such as woven baskets, ceramic jars and wooden pots to keep things tidy.

4 CREATE A SPOT TO GATHER

When your day is packed with screens and schedules, carving out an area to get together in real life is a restorative ritual.

CONSIDER THE MOOD YOU WISH TO CREATE Do you want to encourage conversation, connection or relaxation? This should guide how you style your space, whether it includes a kitchen island, a shared table or a sociable sofa set-up.

ANCHOR YOUR GATHERING SPOT Define the area with a tactile rug, round table or statement light. These visual cues help define the zone by subtly inviting people in.

CHOOSE COMFORT OVER PERFECTION Opt for seating that allows you to linger, be it mix-and-match upholstered chairs, a puddle of cushions or a bench with layered textiles to balance ease and style.

CELEBRATE THE MOST IMPORTANT MEAL

Breakfast can be such a great start to the day, but it's so easy to rush it or eat while multitasking. Use thoughtfully chosen objects to bring the ritual to life and create joy and meaning, advises Kate Butler (above), head of home design at Oliver Bonas.

LAYING A TABLE IS THE SIMPLEST WAY TO ELEVATE YOUR MORNING ROUTINE A tablecloth adds a lovely sense of occasion. I have a collection that belonged to my family and using them always makes me feel nostalgic. I also decant things like butter and jam into small pots – it makes the table look more thoughtful.

DON'T SAVE THINGS FOR BEST! IF YOU LOVE IT, USE IT – AND USE IT OFTEN I use my antique silver cutlery all the time. For me, it's about using pieces that have meaning. I have a slightly bashed pewter butter dish that was always on our breakfast table growing up, along with elegant silver candlesticks. I mix those sentimental pieces with plates and bowls I've collected on my travels. Nothing matches and I love that. It's that blend of personal stories and beautiful objects that makes it feel unique.

6 MAKE SOME ROOM TO DRESS

You only need a little corner to create a pretty styled space.

DEFINING DIFFERENT ZONES IN YOUR SPACE CAN MAKE EVERY SPOT FEEL MORE PURPOSEFUL. A console, slim desk or wall shelf can double as a mini dressing station and signal the start and end of your day. CHOOSE SOMEWHERE YOU CAN

MOVE EASILY, SIT COMFORTABLY AND REACH WHAT YOU NEED A soft stool or upholstered chair transforms a simple corner into a welcoming zone rather than a rushed pit-stop. GOOD LIGHTING MAKES THE MOMENT FEEL MORE MINDFUL. Position yourself by a window for soft morning light or use a warm-toned table lamp to induce evening calm.

SHINE A LIGHT INTO EVERY CORNER

Designer and portable-lighting evangelist Abigail Ahern explains how wireless lamps create soothing spaces.

'My coffee table always has a stack of books, botanicals for a nod to nature and soft lighting to create a relaxing ambience. Portable lights are brilliant for creating cosy pockets of glow wherever and whenever you need them. In the summer evenings, I take them outside and in the winter months, I pop them everywhere from the side of the bath to my kitchen surfaces to add an extra layer of light.'

CHORES – BUT MAKE THEM CUTE

Laundry is a non-negotiable part of life, so why not make it as stress-free and stylish as possible? If you don't have the space for a dedicated utility room, a cupboard or corner in the kitchen can become a charming laundry zone. The key is tapping into the idea of 'beautilty', where efficiency looks chic – think delicately scented detergents decanted into pretty glass Mason jars, tuck-away airers and cute jute storage baskets for all the little extras.

9 FIND YOUR GOLDEN HOUR

Rearrange your space to make the most of mood-lifting natural light. Not only will a sunny spot help you top up your vitamin D, but the glow also beautifully softens the edges of the room. Add a touch of greenery (monstera and fig trees both thrive in sunny spots) to deepen the sense of connection to nature.

10 SURROUND YOURSELF WITH THE THINGS YOU LOVE

Giving your most cherished pieces pride of place is an instant mood boost. Here's how to curate your collection.

EMBRACE A LIVED-IN FEEL BY AVOIDING ANYTHING OVER-STYLED A collection of mismatched jugs and vases with freshly cut blooms makes for a pretty display on this dressing table.

TRY OUT A STYLIST'S FOOLPROOF TECHNIQUE: THE RULE OF THREE Display with one vertical piece for height, a horizontal one for balance and a sculptural element.

DON'T FORGET TO ADD SOME CONTRAST Layering a deep or bright colour, or mixing materials, brings character and depth.

Morzy Twisted Oak mirror, £398, Rowen & Wren. For a similar cupboard, try Etsy. For similar vintage-style jugs, try charity shops.

11 TRY WATER THERAPY

Chrissie Rucker OBE, founder of The White Company, shares her advice for curating a soothing spa-like sanctuary.

'After a stressful day, a bath can be a powerful ritual to calm the body and mind by immersing yourself in warm water with bath foam or oils. For extra comfort, I use a magnesium-enriched bath soak to help me drift off to sleep when I'm ready for bed. To really enjoy that post-bath feeling, I recommend drying off with a fluffy towel and wrapping yourself up in a snuggly robe before lighting a sleep-inducing candle in your bedroom.'

MAKE BEDTIME DELICIOUS

Dressing your bed is an art everyone can master, says Molly Freshwater, co-founder and creative director at Secret Linen Store. She reveals her favourite tips.

BEDSCAPING IS LIKE SETTING A BEAUTIFUL TABLE - but for sleeping. It's about creating a space that feels layered, inviting and full of texture. Start with natural bedding, then add layers: a throw or two at the end of the bed and cushions in different shapes and sizes. PILLOWS ARE LIKE FRIENDS: a few great ones are better than too many that just get in the way. I'd say you need two to sleep on, two to prop up and maybe one or two cushions. WE'RE ALL FOR NATURAL FIBRES Buy the best bedding you can afford and think of it as an investment in your sleep.

2 STUDY TIME

An unused alcove is the perfect spot for encouraging a bit of working-from-home creativity, and a colourful shelving unit alongside provides storage for life's little extras.

Walls painted in Haven Optiva matt, from £18.64/1L, Tikkunia UK

4 A CORNER TO CURL UP IN

Shelving and bench storage under sloping ceilings turn an awkward nook into a practical, well-used space, while squishy cushions crank up the comfort.

Shaker Nook storage in Graphite, from £2,000, Sharps

3 FIND SHELTER

Transform the smallest room in your home into a cosy hideaway with cocooning tones, complete with snugly furnishings and a sofa just made for sinking into.

Walls painted in Winding Waterway, from £20.75/0.94L, Benjamin Moore

5 NEVER A CHORE

Recast a box room upstairs into a welcoming utility room with chequerboard tiles and sunny yellow units. We'd happily linger over the laundry in this space designed by Lonika Chanda.

LOVE STORY

Sometimes it takes two colours to bring out the best in a room. Here are some perfect couples that add depth, warmth and personality to your home

Words MARIE-CLAIRE DORKING

DENIM BLUE + SALMON

Calming tones of blue can temper orange's heat, resulting in a characterful but considered space. The darker denim door frame introduces a visual pause as you enter from one room to another.

Front wall in Hyacinth; doorway border in Damselilly; inside wall in Spring Puffin; all pure matt emulsion, from £28/1L, Fenwick & Tilbrook

1 Akira floor lamp in Rust, £70, Value Lights 2 Dwellier kitchen chair in Shipping Forecast Clever Velvet, £595, Loaf 3 Spindle desk in Burnt Orange, £199, John Lewis & Partners 4 Amalfi Coast vase, £40, Casa by JJ 5 Leela wall light in Orange, £100, Pooky

SKY + SAGE

These hues are natural companions in the landscapes around us. Referencing them in a dining room creates a serene vibe for chilled-out gatherings.

TOFFEE + RUSSET

These natural hues have a warmth and earthiness that helps them blend rather than clash. Pale toffee walls create an enveloping backdrop, while russet on the door subtly defines the transition between spaces.

Walls in Bombolone intelligent matt emulsion; cupboard doors in Bombolone intelligent eggshell; window trim in Silt intelligent eggshell; all from £70/2.5L, Little Greene

BUBBLEGUM + TOMATO RED

It's an unexpected colour pairing that works, thanks to the warm bases that both shades share. Using them side by side adds richness to the space while creating a joyful feel.

MUSTARD + ROYAL BLUE

Repetition is the key to making a colour scheme feel intentional and cohesive. Here, yellow is splashed across the walls and on decorative pottery, while the blue appears on the cabinet and lively chequerboard rug.

For a similar wall paint, try Yellow-Pink intelligent matt emulsion, £70/2.5L, Little Greene. The Collector display cabinet in Navy, £749, Mustard Made

OLIVE + OCHRE

Olive green and ochre are an unconventional combination, but as they both have roots in nature, the scheme in this modern kitchen feels harmonious rather than high contrast.

Monterey tiles in Mustard and Coconut, from £69/sq m; cupboards in Baby Olive matt emulsion, £54/2.5L; all Claybrook

GATHER ROUND

From a breakfast nook carved out of a busy kitchen to a designated area styled for a celebration, we've rounded up some beautiful spaces that will please a crowd and make every meal feel special

1 CAPTURE THE CAFÉ VIBE

Recreate the charm of your favourite coffee spot with a bistro-style table, statement pendant and art-filled walls. It works just as well for a morning brew as it does for a small dinner party.

2 GO ECLECTIC

You can pack a lot of personality into a small space – a scheme full of patterns, colour and quirky accessories has a joyful feel. Keep to a complementary palette to stop it looking too chaotic.

4 MIX UP YOUR CHAIRS

Forget dining sets – combine styles and mix colours and materials for a relaxed, collected-over-time vibe that will help make visitors feel at home.

3 BRING BACK THE BIG LIGHT

A striking pendant or chandelier is a great mood-setter in a dining space; use a lightbulb with a 'cap' to prevent glare or set on a dimmer to create the perfect ambience.

5 ADOPT CLEVER SEATING

Benches offer a perfect way to squeeze in a plus one or two. Pull them out for a sociable supper and then tuck neatly away when the guests have gone.

Easy room updates (that don't cost a fortune)

From stencilling a chest of drawers to refreshing a splashback, we've gathered some clever design and styling tricks to refresh every space in your home

1 OVERSIZED MIRROR TRICK

It's the principle designers swear by: reflective surfaces bounce light around, double your view and make even the most bijoux spaces feel bigger.

46 housebeautiful.com/uk

2 HOME GALLERY

Create a bespoke piece of artwork with some beautiful fabric. Attach it to the wall with a wooden dowel or curtain pole for a work of art that's less expensive than traditional framed prints.

4 THE SPLASHBACK GLOW-UP

Refresh tired tiles or stained splashbacks with a one-coat paint for a simple, affordable decorating win – choose a light, reflective shade to brighten or an earthy tone to warm up the space.

3 LIGHTING – WITH A SIDE OF DRAMA

Swap bedside lamps for an oversized hanging pendant for an instant sense of grandeur (and more space on your nightstand).

5 DISPLAY WITH A STORY

Curate all your treasures on a single shelf unit, console or mantelpiece to give them a gallery-like presence and tell your home's story.

6 STROKE OF GENIUS
Rescue a tired piece of furniture with a hand-painted decoration, such as an all-over pattern on a chest of drawers – it's a chic update that you can tailor to the colour scheme of the room.

8 HEADBOARD UPGRADE
Re-cover an existing upholstered headboard in an abstract, floral or animal print, or craft your own with a sheet of plywood, glued-on foam and statement fabric.

48 housebeautiful.com/uk

7 PAINTED PICTURE RAIL
Painting or stencilling a border around the edges of the room is a genius way to reference traditional architectural details such as picture rails – and to inject character into the space.

9 SIMPLE DIY SHELVES
Repurpose decorative trays as mini wall shelves, mounting them with hidden brackets to create charming display ledges for favourite trinkets.
