LET THE LIGHT IN

WHY HOMEOWNERS ARE CHOOSING MORE GLASS

Spring has a way of reminding us how much light matters. Longer days, brighter mornings, and that quiet pull to open up the house and let the season inside.

That's exactly why glass has become one of the biggest trends we're seeing this year. Homeowners aren't just adding more of it. They're using it with intention.

WHAT'S DRIVING THE SHIFT?

Glass does more than brighten a room. It changes how a home feels. Open. Welcoming. Connected to what's outside.

MORE NATURAL LIGHT WITHOUT LOSING PRIVACY

A WIDER, MORE OPEN FEELING AT THE ENTRY

BETTER VIEWS WITHOUT SACRIFICING COMFORT

STRONGER CURB APPEAL WITH A MODERN EDGE

The Door Dudes

GLASS, DONE THOUGHTFULLY

The trend isn't about putting glass everywhere. The homes that feel best balance it carefully.

Think full-lite doors at the entry, slim sidelites that frame a view, and frosted or textured panels where privacy matters.

Glass is all about choosing where light has the biggest impact and letting the rest of the home stay grounded.

A well-placed glass door can make a small foyer feel twice as large or turn a dim hallway into the brightest part of the house.

LIGHT IS ONE OF THE MOST POWERFUL DESIGN TOOLS YOU HAVE. THE RIGHT DOOR KNOWS HOW TO USE IT.
