
Moon and Azure Shadow

Age of Darkness and Frost (Repose Records)

Repose Records ·

Seven long years following the self-titled debut album, US one-man project Moon and Azure Shadow returned to the mysterious arcane hills with the self-released "Age of Darkness and Frost", an imposing opus evocative of somber trails and frozen mountains. Now, one year following its initial delivery, Repose Records takes this epic tome to a whole new level.

Granted with a newly remastered sound and artwork, "Age of Darkness and Frost" witnesses its majestic traits enhanced and revitalized to a full potential, with its tremendous keyboard landscapes and immense atmosphere breathing new life, thus exalting a noble aura of exquisite grandeur. The aforementioned improved sound remarkably seizes the listener and transports him to the imposing pathways summoned by its creator, riveting ethereal trails, aurally impressive and wholly inspiring.

Parallel to this orchestral facet, Moon and Azure Shadow enters more abrasive territories with full-on Black Metal incursions, a harsh soundtrack to an ancient battlefield where entrancing riffs supply an electrifying gloom in consonance with the rasping vocals intoning tales of an olden past.

Released on CD and Vinyl, both limited to 300 copies, "Age of Darkness and Frost" is a moving journey, a testament to forgotten lands of throne and crown where the shadows gleam under the haunting moon.