PROFILE

Technical Writer and Front-End Developer based in Oklahoma City. I am an experienced, highly-skilled Technical Writer; I've honed my writing abilities for more than six years both in freelance and corporate work. As a developer, my primary focus is design, experience, and user interaction with a continued drive to learn new frameworks and languages.

Published Paranormal Historian specializing in the Victorian Era. I consider myself a passionate creative-type leading an eclectic life with a deep love for programming.
