Financial Aid

Website: <https://www.south.edu/admissions/financial-aid/>

The cost of education can seem beyond us, but South College wants to see you succeed! The financial aid department can review options from scholarships, to grants, to loans, to work studies that can help defray the cost of the education you desire. Reach out to them via the “contact financial aid” link or the live chat on the website to see how easy it can be!

Career Services

Website: <https://www.south.edu/student-resources/career-services/>

While we cannot guarantee anyone any particular employment offers, South College’s Career Services department assist students to transition from the student role to the professional role by providing opportunities to learn, prepare and hone their skills in preparation for those important interviews. Check out their offerings to see how many of our students often graduate with job offers in hand!

Counseling Services

We know managing school and the other demands of life (family, work, etc) can be a real challenge. Assistance is available for any student who seeks aid in addressing individual problems. Instructors, Program Coordinators, and Deans are all available for support and troubleshooting challenges.

Licensed Counseling services are also available through the Comp Psych service upon request. For an appointment contact:

Phone-based counselors: 844-268-5855

Website: guidanceresources.com (Web ID: SouthCollege)

If needed, students will be referred to a counselor located in their community where they will receive up to three, in-person sessions free of charge per issue. ComPsych has a large network of counselors throughout the United States, so all our students (regardless of where they are) will have access to in-person counseling. Students may select counselors based on specialty, language, gender, or religious preferences.

Your instructor is also here to help!!

At any time, you can ask your instructor to provide direction and assistance with navigating your individual challenges.

You Are Not Alone!
