

Summary: A note from a melodramatic Carja merchant detailing perfume orders to their apprentice. This codex entry could be found in a store, cart, or caravan around Meridian.

Velan,

Make sure the following orders are ready when I return to Meridian. And by the Sun, if you forget a single ingredient, I'll push you off the edge of the Spire.

Kanor - Essence of lavender, sandalwood, and cedar. Do NOT forget the arrangement.

Jureka - Essence of rose petals, cherries, pomegranates, and a pinch of cinnamon. Just a PINCH, Velan. We don't want her to claim we ruined her marriage ceremony with a sneezing fit.

Vanasha - Her taste is exquisite. Essence of orange blossom, jasmine, and pear.

Oseram Woman? - The stench of machine oil coming off this woman was so vile that I couldn't concentrate when she said her name. Essence of verbena, lemon, and ginger. Use a full bottle of lemon extract if you must.

Talanah Khane Padish - She insisted on wasting my talent with something subtle for the Sun King's upcoming visit. A perfume that won't linger during her next hunt. Essence of vanilla and rosewater. And a bucket to drown myself in.