Real Help for Real People

Was Baby Powder a Hidden Danger? You or a Loved One May Qualify for Compensation

For decades, companies like Johnson & Johnson knew their talcum powder products could be contaminated with asbestos—but they failed to warn the public.

These products were marketed as safe and used daily by women and families. Now billions of dollars are being set aside to compensate those who were harmed. You may qualify if:

- You regularly used talc-based powders
- You were diagnosed with ovarian cancer or fallopian tube cancer
- A loved one with cancer passed away and used baby powder

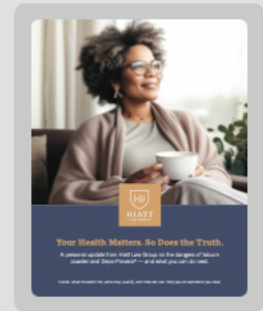

It doesn't matter how long ago the diagnosis was. A free case review could change everything.

Know Someone Who's Worked Around Asbestos?

They may qualify for compensation—
even if they didn't know they were exposed.

Real Help for Real People

Know Someone Who Worked Before 1980 and Is Now Sick? Help Them Get the Care & Compensation They Deserve

At Hiatt Law Group, we help individuals with asbestos-related injuries seek compensation from monies already set aside by the companies responsible. There's zero upfront cost for consultations.

Years later, they developed serious illnesses like:

- Mesothelioma
- Lung Cancer
- Colorectal Cancer
- Ovarian Cancer
- Laryngeal Cancer
- Esophageal Cancer
- Stomach Cancer
- Asbestosis
- ...and more.

Many people who worked in construction, shipyards, refineries, factories, and other trades were exposed to asbestos—often without knowing it.

If someone you know has one of these illnesses—and worked before 1980—pass this card along. We may be able to help.

What You Weren't Told About Depo-Provera Could Harm You

Millions of women received Depo-Provera, Depo-subQ, or generic birth control injections—without being warned about the long-term risks. New evidence links these shots to brain tumors (especially meningiomas), severe headaches, vision loss, and seizures.

If you—or someone you love—received 2 or more injections, you may qualify for compensation if:

- You had 2 or more injections of Depo-Provera, Depo-subQ, or a generic version
- You were later diagnosed with a brain tumor (especially meningioma)
- You later experienced blurred vision, seizures, or severe headaches
- A loved one passed from related complications

Legal action is underway.

You may qualify even if your diagnosis was years ago. We're helping people understand their rights—before it's too late.
