

If Your Child Has an Underlying Health Condition, They May Be Eligible for This Research Opportunity

Some Children Have Health Conditions That Make Them More at Risk for Severe COVID-19

The [REDACTED] Study is now investigating an approved COVID-19 vaccine to find out how well it may help protect against severe illness from the virus. This trial is recruiting children 6 months to 11 years of age who have a health condition that could put them at risk for severe COVID-19.

To learn more and find out if your child may be eligible, contact the following clinical trial site.

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]