A high-angle photograph of a restaurant table. In the foreground, a white bowl is filled with spaghetti, clams, and red bell peppers, garnished with fresh herbs. To the right of the bowl is a silver fork and knife resting on a light-colored napkin. In the background, there are three wine glasses: one with red wine and a lemon slice, and two with white wine. A white plate with a red sauce dish and a small bowl of sauce are also visible. The table is covered with a light-colored, textured placemat.
