MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Mar. 27, 2012 — Worth Design Build, LLC, a Twin Cities-based design and remodeling firm, has relocated its corporate headquarters to 33 4th Street NW, Osseo, MN. The new, 154 sq. ft. location is in the heart of a bustling community and offers greater proximity to the company's expanding customer base. The transition is complete and business operations are now being routed through the Osseo, MN office.

Strategic Geography

The new Worth Design Build corporate headquarters, 33 4th Street NW, Osseo, MN, offers easy access to the greater Twin Cities. The office sits minutes from the confluence of CR-81, highway US-169 and US-94/US-694. The quaint downtown location also offers numerous business lunch options, featuring New American, Thai and Mediterranean cuisine.

Strong Relationships

Since its inception in 2010, the Worth Design Build has been focused on superior craft and long-lasting customer relationships. The company has thrived on a small-scale business model with grassroots marketing efforts relying solely on client referrals. An exclusive work flow process places significant emphasis on continual customer communication.

"The new site will provide streamlined access to the nucleus of the Worth Design Build business—its customer base," said Aaron Lenz, a home building professional close to the situation. "Closer proximity to the metropolitan community provides an ideal opportunity to strengthen customer relationships and continue to diversify the business."
