

SONOS

To be honest...

Before you first heard your favorite album or watched your favorite movie, a team of artists worked together to produce something that accurately conveyed a singular artistic vision. With every product we make, we endeavor to make sure you experience that vision in all its integrity. Simply put, we don't put our "stamp" on what you hear from your Sonos speakers.

"The sound of music or a great movie should be transmitted into your home as pure and honest as it can be."

—Giles Martin, Sonos' Sound Experience Leader

During the process of creating Beam, our new soundbar, we consulted with sound creators like Oscar-winning film remixing engineer Chris Jenkins (Mad Max: Fury Road), and top tier music producers like Manny Marroquin (Rihanna, John Mayer), to help us fine-tune the home listening experience.

Learn more about how we blend art and science to ensure our products offer pure, honest sound.

Learn more

Let's get literary

Finding more time to read is easy. Just ask Alexa. With Audible on Sonos, now you can access the world's largest selection of audiobooks—from page-turners to bedtime stories—with just your voice. We've got five suggestions to get you started.

Learn more

Part of the process

We tapped into the talents of art duo 44flavours to transform one of the listening rooms at our new store in Berlin's Mitte district. Find out how their studio environment—including sound—contributes to their creative process.

Learn more

Sonos Pro Tip

You can turn off the status light on any of your speakers. From the Sonos app, tap the More icon, then Settings, then Room Settings. From there, select the desired speaker and toggle the "Status Light" button.

Alexa Skill of the Week

Book Events

After enabling Book Events, Alexa can tell you about upcoming readings, signings, and other book-related events in your area.

"Alexa, ask Book Events for events near me."

You never know how Alexa will answer until you try.

"Alexa, do you like to read?"

Shop Sonos Find a Store 1 800 680 2345

