

KYMETA'S RELIEF EFFORTS IN PUERTO RICO

After Hurricane Maria, the people of Puerto Rico needed emergency services, medical care, and food—but much of the island didn't have electricity or internet connectivity to coordinate aid projects. That's why Kymeta and their partners visited 35 municipalities across Puerto Rico.

Kymeta mobile satellite antennas provided internet access to those without connectivity, allowing them to contact family members and make sure their loved ones were safe.

THE TEAM WAS ALSO ABLE TO PROVIDE DISASTER RELIEF THROUGH:

36,895

HOT MEALS SERVED

4,213

MEDICAL SERVICES PROVIDED

2,504

FEMA REQUESTS COMPLETED

