

“Essential Writing Strategies & Professionally Speaking” Alecia Goodlow-Young, MPS, ACS, ALB, PRM

Do you have a fear of writing or public speaking? Would you like to brush up on your writing or speaking skills? Do you like to write and converse with others? During this workshop, the participants will be guided through fun instructive writing techniques. These will serve as reminders from forgotten writing strategies that are desperately needed within the workforce.

Participants will be encouraged to embrace techniques, which will empower one to think, create and produce acceptable writing presentations. As the participants learn to rewrite, they will be motivated to focus on their speaking abilities.

Alecia will use a hands-on approach to help you develop your own style of writing and speaking. In doing so, you will work on several different types of scenarios to determine which styles suits you best.
