

HAUTE MESS KITCHEN

Sublime Savories

The Haute Mess Kitchen Philosophy is simple.

Everything you eat should be really, really good. If it's not, then why bother? We make our products by hand, using only the best stuff, and we never, ever use anything we can't pronounce because we're obsessed with making everything we touch just right. In fact, we're sort of obsessed with you...with your happiness, your well-being and, mostly, your dinner.

Haute Mess Kitchen Sublime Savories was an exploration-turned-extreme-extrapolation of one of my greatest joys: sharing excellent food with great people. Over the course of four years, I created, crafted and brought to market a unique brand of gourmet, 100% natural seasoning blends and sauces, selling several thousand jars before hanging up my apron to return to the real world (and, if I'm honest, a salary). Though the retail food business is extraordinarily competitive and hard to crack, it's hard to look back on the experience of starting my own business from scratch as anything but a success. Ask me about it!