Make sure back-to-school lists include vaccinations

With National Immunization Awareness Month taking place in August and the school year being right around the corner, making sure our kids have all their needed vaccines is a top priority. Many school districts require children to have up-to-date vaccinations in order to attend. Childhood vaccination has also shown that it is an incredibly effective way to control and prevent disease.

Cut through the myths about vaccines

There's a lot of confusing information going around about vaccines, but the best way to cut through all that noise is by getting the facts. Visit MerckEngage and learn the myths—and the truths—about vaccines.
