

They want Friday night fires.
You want to fire up new business strategies.

Your customers are counting on you for a place to stay warm, enjoy delicious food and relax with people they love. Good thing HPBExpo is back this year so you can find everything you need to build their dreams — from the latest trends in surrounds and facings to traditional hearths and the hottest barbecues. Plus, this is where you'll reconnect and share strategies with professionals as passionate as you about blazing new trails to success.
