

Shampoo and Conditioner Set

POPULARITY WARNING!! If you don't want your beard to go down in the annals of history, if you prefer not to be remembered alongside the beards of Lincoln, Socrates, di Vinci, Confucius, and yes, even Zeus himself, this may not be the product for you. Organic ingredients? Always and forever! Beard growth? Faster than cups run out at parties, faster than debutants shed their knickers for a Brad Pitt/Henry Cavil clone. Thicker, Fuller, Covered Beards? Let's put it this way... the most famous beard in history is on Michelangelo's statue of Moses, and per survey Polished Gentleman beards put to shame! You want facial hair growth that makes Hemingway, Sigmund Freud, Blackbeard, Fredrick Douglas and Karl Marx to look like pubescent teenagers? You can bet it on the hair on your chiny, chin, chin. In actual fact, my product is in the process of evolving a whole new super-species of bearded males that scientists are calling Homo whiskerus. See, you no longer have to depend on a higher power for your growth, as you can now put that power in your own hands! On a bit more practical level, if you think that Polished Gentleman won't compliment you better than Ryan Gosling in a romantic comedy, your proof is but a bottle away. You may have had beard shapers, beard conditioners, beard balms, beard softeners and beard shampoos before, but Polished Gentleman makes your beard thicker than an American addicted to fast food and Samuel Adams Boston Lager. Be a clever chap and get this shampoo & conditioner yesterday.

The natural, organic, and magical ingredients included in my most masculine of formulas is of the utmost importance. I have searched the world over by hot air balloon, and the world under by humpback whale to bring you the best ingredients nature has to offer, and I my now proud to announce to the planet that I have unquestionably succeeded in that search.

Aloe Vera, called "that plant of immortality," used therapeutically for centuries in China, Japan, India, Greece, Egypt, Mexico, and Japan, also backed by modern rigorous scientific studies, has naturally occurring antibacterial, antiviral, and antifungal properties. CHEERS!

Biotin is one of those things your beard cannot live without, like good music and a nice suit. This very necessary vitamin boosts moisture, relieves dryness, soothes itchiness, heals dandruff, and can even help with more severe conditions like seborrheic dermatitis. Oh Yea!

Argan Oil is as rich in its properties as Warren Buffett is in his, but argon is it more moisturizing and anti-inflammatory. It also smells better. Kaboom!

Tea Tree Oil stimulates beard follicles to promotes beard growth. But that's not the half of it: like a virtual cyborg armed with a 50 cal. hand sanitizer, tea tree oil also has powerful antibacterial, antifungal, and antiviral properties, making it effective against dandruff, itching, acne, warts, and more. Pretty snazzy, huh?

I could go on and on, with things like Eucalyptus Oil, Rosemary Oil, Oat Amino Protein. etc., but as the attention span is about to croak, let's just say that we took the entirety of Nancy's Nature Shop of Primal Botanicals, Organic Herbs and Exotic Oils and put it into this bottle. As nice as sliced spice pies!

We're a family-owned company, operate our own US labs, offer a money-back guarantee, and take out our own trash every Thursday morning.

If you aren't seriously impressed yet than likely you aren't the type of person who could have been spiritually moved by the remarkably suave monkey in a top hat I once saw robbing a liquor store. (No, I didn't personally know the monkey, and he doesn't work for us.) Anyway, Polished Gentleman has a multitude of incredible, natural, and supernatural ingredients, making our products as healthy, effective, and gentlemanly as they are. Buy my Beard Growth set now to start cultivating the best facial fur you've ever experienced!