

Lament

WRITTEN BY DEANNA NGUYEN

Winds of a moon-soaked night,
carry her voice
as gentle as the caresses
of a mother cradling
her newborn child.

Rising and falling
like the ocean waves,
her song tickles the ears of those who are lost
in a familiar loneliness.

Never dissipating,
the mystic lyrics
seep into the chasms
of a memory yet known
but always present.

She shares a world
so secret, so elusive
that searching for it
dissolves the edges
of a waking dream.

Her story
shall echo and resonate
across unreached waters,
to the one destined
to end with her.
