

Amesbury College

School of Journalism Fact Sheet

The Amesbury College, School of Journalism will be holding a reunion involving all graduating classes on October 22-25, 2019. The reunion will be held in tandem with the College's 75th anniversary celebration. This is the first large scale reunion attempted.

Current Dean:

Sarah Singh, with a tenure of five years.

History:

The school of journalism is the oldest journalism program in the Mid-Atlantic Region of the U.S. Amesbury College is a nationally famous small liberal arts college on the East Coast. The school's history of excellence makes this an especially important occasion.

Amesbury College is nationally famous, small liberal arts college whose reputation for excellence has consistently placed it in the top 10 in private colleges in the country.

Age ranges:

Replies from alumni show a wide variance in age ranging from 24-98.

Alumni Numbers:

Nearly 700.

Most famous Alumni Attending:

Mr. Sergio Rodriguez, Executive Editor for the Los Angeles Times.

Expected Turnout:

Large, however no exact number has been formulated. Students from all classes are invited to attend.

#####