KIDNAP KID BIRDS THAT FLY

KIDNAP KID BIRDS THAT FLY

After releasing tracks on iconic labels, there comes a time in most producers careers to spread their wings, and by spreading their wings we mean starting their own imprint. This time has come for Black Butter's Kidnap Kid. The London based producer is spreading his wings and flying off into his own direction with his own label Birds That Fly Records. The creation of Birds that Fly Records will serve as the home for him and other like-minded producers. A label that will no doubt be a source of provoking releases.

Moments EP is the first release on the label and it comes from label creator himself. The EP is home to current emotional banger Moments and an aptly named track Birds That Fly. In true Kidnap Kid style Birds That Fly is a tranquil piece of house heaven, much like a big bowl of gelato on a hot summers day. The track builds gradually taking you on a soaring flight with every drop of the melodic vocal. With Kidnap Kid's unique ear for melodic house, we look forward to hearing what else he has planned for the label.

NONKU PHIRI TRACK REVIEW

Nonku Phiri - Things We Do On The Weekend

Things We Do On The Weekend is the debut solo release from South Africa's most loved superstar singer, songwriter and performer Nonku Phiri. This track marks the first step in her solo career as an artist and if it is anything to go by we are all in for a super treat. Her experience overflows into a diverse range of genres as she dabbles in hip-hop, rap and electronic. This is plain as day on Things We Do On The Weekend.

The track is a real representation of who Nonku is, and it reminds us why she's one to watch, not only in the local music scene but internationally as well. Produced by PHFat's Narch Beats "Things We Do On The Weekend" takes you on dusky trip down to a twisted place where kwaito, meets hip-hop, and electronic. Fragmented beats laced with hypnotic vocals and hard-hitting lyrics push this track up to a level of pure listening pleasure.

Vibrant, cosmopolitan, and truly iconic, Hong Kong is a city like no other. Described by the Hong Kong tourism board as a "kaleidoscope of life, a sophisticated fusion of East and West, and a city of diversity where new and old meet at every turn." This description sums up the spirit of this iconic city. With exploration on every turn, and a skyline to rival most cities in the world this densely populated city will capture a piece of your heart. Browsing catalogs of stupendous pictures on the net it's easy to see why Above & Beyond selected it as the destination for their "ABGT 300" celebrations.

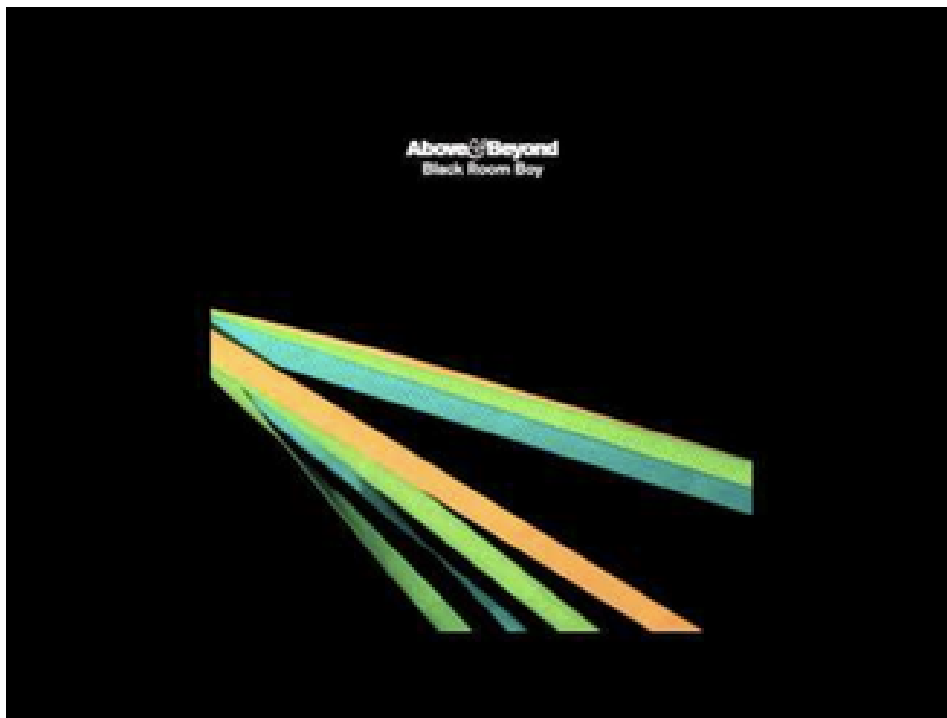

Traveling goes hand in hand with exploring, and exploring and all explorations need an accompanying playlist to add some flair. We give you our "Anjuna" playlist to accompany you on your explorations through Hong Kong.

Mong Kok

Hidden among the towers and high-end malls Mong Kok is filled with streets of neon signs. The Mong Kong is one of the bustling areas on the western part of the Kowloon side and is home to the effervescent markets which are best to visit after dark. Stroll the grimy streets of Mong Kok and take your taste buds on a trip with street food while listening to Above & Beyond – Blackroom Boy

Think back to the time when you heard your favourite song live, or the moment when you saw your favourite DJ for the first time. Think back to the time when you were in a crowd of five thousand fans singing in sync to a song, "Life is made of small moments like these". While life is made of small moments it is also made of small milestones and Above & Beyond have no shortage of them. The iconic trio's latest milestone comes in the form of reaching 300 episodes of their fame acclaimed radio show Group therapy. Previous "Group Therapy" milestone events have been held in Amsterdam, London, New York, and Australia. ABGT 300 is quickly approaching and for ABGT 300 celebrations, Above & Beyond have picked a city in the far east that is unlike any other, Hong Kong! Going all out they are giving you not one but 2 events.

Group Therapy 300 weekend kicks off on the 29th of September with ABGT 300 at Asia World-Expo, followed by Anjunadeep Open air on the 30th of September at the West Kowloon Nursery. In true Trancehub fashion, we give you the 5 acts that you should not miss at ABGT 300 weekend.

James Grant and Jody Wisternoff

Anjunadeep co-founder James Grant and label favourite Jody Wisternhoff are known for their tag team deep sets. Composing their sets with the cream of both heard and unheard tracks in the deep scene together they work on shifting your mood, playing on your emotions and exporting you into a new world.

Ben Böhmer

ARTIST OF ABGT 300

Ben is an emerging German producer who has fast become recognised on both Anjunabeats and Anjunadeep. He's best known for his unique progressive sounds. For ABGT 300 weekend Ben has been blessed with set duties at both ABGT 300 and Anjunadeep Open air, and both promise to be special. During his live sets, Ben improvise around his own productions to give attendees an exclusive musical experience. If you trying to decide when to catch Ben, we suggest catching his live set at Anjunadeep Open Air. We assure you the set will take you on a musical journey like no other.

Grum

ARTIST OF ABGT 300

Scottish producer Grum is no stranger to the Anjunabeats family having releases on both Anjunabeats and Anjunadeep. His progressive sound is influenced by the likes of Eric Prydz, John Digweed, and Sasha. Grum's sets are packed full of his own productions and unheard reworks. If you love progressive house with a hint of techno and trance Grum's set is just for you.

Penelope

Image may contain: 1 person, sitting, child and closeup

Penelope is a name unknown by many and first fell on our radar after we heard her Anjunadeep Edition mix. She is an integral part of the Anjunadeep office and a DJ with flare. Her sets start off light and build into a deep world where it is just you and the music. She's also representing for the women, so be sure to support her.

Andrew Bayer

ARTISTS OF ABGT 300

Grammy Nominated for his work with Above & Beyond and having released numerous records via both Anjunabeats and Anjunadeep Andrew Bayer is no stranger to camp Anjuna. September saw him release his 3rd studio album "In My Last Life" which has been termed as his magnum opus, and we are excited to hear some tracks live. All through his sets, his musical innovation shines through. Andrew's set is guaranteed to take you on a journey through the realms of sophisticated electronica.

List aside both events have a stellar line-up so, forget our top 5 acts to catch and go live in an Anjuna bubble for the weekend.
