

David Ginsburg, Social Media and Content Marketing Specialist

Tom is an outstanding writer with a gift for storytelling. His natural eye for detail enables him to establish a setting that draws the reader in and makes them feel as though they are right there on the scene. Although I got to know Tom as a music writer, over the years I've seen him develop his skill set to become a content provider capable of delivering top-quality written content for a variety of disciplines. Additionally, he's very strong as a public speaker, as those same natural storytelling gifts and passion for engaging an audience come to the fore when he's got a microphone in hand. It is my pleasure to recommend Tom Kielty to any organization seeking an elite writer/editor/researcher/presenter.